Men Voting on the Strike Proposition All Over the System.

A DECISION WILL NOT BE REACHED BEFORE TUESDAY.

President Ingle's Minister Inquires as to Number of Men Who Can Be Secured If There Is a Strike—English Miners Backed in Their Struggle by Members of Parliament.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 23.—The Big Four employees are discussing the strike question here in a very business-like manner, and the question will probably not be settled before Tuesday.

Chief F. M. Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers returned from Omaha yesterday morning, and Assistant Chief Youngson left to spend a few days at his home in Meadville, Pa. His absence justifies the conclusion that no decisive action will be taken for some days yet, as he has practically had charge of the matter for the Brotherhood of Engineers.

The engineers and trainmen were the last of the Cleveland employees to vote, which they did late last night. The men are reticent as to the details of the balloting, but some say it requires a two-thirds vote, while others say a majority will be sufficient to decide.

PRESIDENT INGLE'S INQUIRIES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—Present developments in the situation between the Big Four railroad Co. and its men indicate that a strike is a matter of only a very short time, perhaps two days at the longest. An emissary of the Chicago division said yesterday that the men on all lines are well organized for concerted action, and that trouble will be avoided only by a compromise. None of the grievance committee has returned to work and it is through this agency that a roll has been taken to ascertain the sentiment of the trainmen. They assert that no more unavailing conferences will be held until the strike is on. It is known moreover that President Ingle, assisted by General Superintendent Van Winkle, has initiated a system of inquiries to ascertain in an approximate degree how many men would be available to take the place of the probable strikers.

RAISED THE MONEY.

Derbyshire Miners Helped in Their Strike by Rich Men.

LONDON, England, Sept. 23.—The question of the strike of the Derbyshire miners, which two or three times has appeared to be on the verge of collapse, is simply one of money. It was thought a few days ago that the Derbyshire miners would be compelled to return to work, the funds of their association having been exhausted and tradesmen refusing to trade further except on the terms of the association. A meeting of the association, however, at once opened negotiations to raise a sum of £20,000. Five Gloucestershire members of the association, however, refused to contribute, and the sum was raised with difficulty. The sum thus raised was £10,000. The Derbyshire association, however, had the usual strike pay for the fall. The result, with the result that a little more money was raised, and the strike was continued.

In the Derbyshire strike, the association has raised the money, and it can be said that today there are no more popular men among the Derbyshire miners than the members of Parliament whose guarantee enabled the association to borrow the money.

The gentlemen who have thus materially assisted the Derbyshire strike are: Walter Foster, James Alfred Jacoby, Thomas Bailey, Thomas Polling Bolton and Harrington Evans. Mr. Foster, representing the Derbyshire division, is a member of the House of Commons; Mr. Bailey, representing the Derbyshire division, is a member of the House of Commons; Mr. Jacoby, representing the Derbyshire division, is a member of the House of Commons; Mr. Bolton, representing the Derbyshire division, is a member of the House of Commons; Mr. Evans, representing the Derbyshire division, is a member of the House of Commons.

Horrible Death of J. E. Higgins in His Home.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN KILLED AND THE HOUSE FIRED.

The Body Found After the Building was Destroyed—A Lace Works Foreman and Wife Convicted of an Atrocity—Public Whipping in Delaware—An Indian Killing in the Territory.

ANDERSON, Ind., Sept. 23.—J. E. Higgins, a floorwalker at the Lion store, met death under suspicious circumstances at an early hour this morning. He was alone in the house, and about 1 o'clock it was discovered to be in flames. The department responded and searched the lower floor for occupants. No one being found, they concluded the house was empty.

When the fire was well under control Higgins' dead body, burned to a crisp, was found in one of the rooms of the second floor.

The position of the body, together with the fact that he still had his clothes on, leads to the suspicion of foul play.

The fire is generally believed to be of incendiary origin. Higgins was married and leaves a wife who is living at Hillsboro, O., where he came from.

COMMUTED TO IMPRISONMENT.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 23.—John Mosely, the Pamlico murderer, who was to have been hanged Friday, Sept. 20, has been commuted by the governor to a term of twenty years in the penitentiary. The petition for clemency was signed by the governor, and he was the head. A meeting of the creditors of the firm was held and then it was learned for the first time that the assets were valued at $200,000 to $300,000, while the liabilities were easily rated at $600,000 in round figures.

J. A. Lord, leather manufacturer of Salem, Mass., who has been a partner in the firm of Richardson & Dennie, and who was in Boston, were so badly crippled by the failure that they were driven to the wall, and when their creditors began an investigation of Richardson's affairs they found most of the assets were involved in litigation through attachments on replevin suits arising from the firm's relations with Phelps & Lombard.

Further proceedings showed that the bottom had been completely cut out of the firm of Richardson & Dennie, and that there was little left for the forty creditors. Then the firm was petitioned into insolvency. The assets were valued at $200,000 to $300,000, while the liabilities were easily rated at $600,000 in round figures.

COAL CREEK CRIME.

COAL CREEK, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Coal Creek was the scene of another murder last evening. About 5 o'clock a woman named Rothford shot and killed J. Lowry. Elias Smith and the woman had fallen out a week ago and she told him not to pass through her yard again.

Smith and Lowry were going through the yard from a spring and the woman drew a shotgun loaded with slugs on Smith. Lowry stepped between them and she told him to get away or she would shoot. He refused to do so and she pulled the trigger and shot the top of Lowry's head. The Rothford woman has been arrested.
